

INCREASE VALUATION OF LOCAL UTILITIES

ASSESSMENTS RAISED BY MORE THAN ONE QUARTER OF A MILLION.

HEARINGS SOON CLOSE

Board of Review to Hold Sessions up
To And Including August 4—
Few Complaints Made.

Increases of more than one-quarter of a million have been made in the valuation of the three Janesville public utilities, the Janesville Electric Light Company, the New Gas Light Company, and the Janesville Water Company according to the books of City Assessor Frank P. Smith. Last year the total assessment of the three corporations was approximately $855,000. This year it is $923,000, or $268,000 more. The assessments of the various companies last year were: New Gas Light Company, $181,000; Janesville Electric Company, $318,000; and Janesville Water Company, $221,000.

The assessments for this year are: New Gas Light Company, $357,000; Janesville Electric Company, $318,000; Janesville Water Company, $250,000. The assessment of the Janesville Electric Company is fixed by the Railway Commission as it has property outside the city. The figures for the other two companies were fixed by the board of review after consultation with F. A. Taylor Supervisor of Assessments. The figures for the water and gas companies may be modified slightly.

As a whole very few changes are made in the assessments this year. Manufacturing property is practically unchanged except through the variation in the amount of stocks on hand at the different dates of assessment. Complaints are comparatively few and a large proportion of these were attended to by Assessor Smith before the Board of Review convened. Property outside the city was assessed in the same manner as last year and will be offset in part or whole by the payment of income tax. The Board of Review will be in session up to and including August 4.

NO GERMAN EXHIBIT LIKELY AT FRISCO

Will Undoubtedly Follow England's
Example in Regard to Panama-
Pacific Exposition.

Berlin, Aug. 1.—Although the German government has not yet decided today that Germany had no yet taken any definite action in regard to participation in the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco in 1915, the opinion is freely expressed in official circles that the German empire will not be represented there.

It is pointed out today that the British government's decision not to participate in the exposition is about to bring pressure to bear on the unwilling business men to exhibit now that fear of unfavorable comparison with Great Britain is rampant. Cases declare themselves tired with exhibiting at frequent expositions and say they see no prospects of financial returns if they participate at San Francisco.

No Russian Exhibit.
St. Petersburg, Russia, Aug. 1.—The Russian government today decided not to participate officially in the San Francisco Exposition.

Vienna, Austria, Aug. 1.—A committee of representatives of the Austro-Hungarian government and local chambers of commerce is about to leave for the exposition there and will afterwards proceed to San Francisco. On this committee's report will depend the reply of the Austro-Hungarian government to participation in the Panama-Pacific exposition. The question is largely one of finance. The government hesitates to appropriate a sum sufficiently large to assure representation on a scale commensurate with the dignity of the empire.

PENNSYLVANIA TOWN HAS A COSTLY FIRE

Fire Which Threatened Business Portion of Bangor Under Control
After a $750,000 Loss.

Bangor, Pa., Aug. 1.—Fire which started here last night and threatened to destroy Bangor's business district was extinguished early today. The entire plant of the S. Flory Mfg. Co., operating machine and roundhouse, one small building and the mill and grain elevator of the Flory Mfg. Co. were also burned. The total loss is estimated at $750,000. The fire started in the plant of the Flory Mfg. Co. and spread rapidly because of the lack of water. The company was summoned from Farnham and Easton.

NOMINATE MITCHELL AS NEW YORK MAYOR ON FUSION TICKET

Fusion Party Prevailing in New York
City Decide on John Pursey Mitchell as Their Candidate.

New York, Aug. 1.—John Pursey Mitchell, collector of the port of New York, was nominated to the office of mayor of New York today on the fusion ticket. Mr. Mitchell, thirty-three years old, was chosen by the committee of republican progress and independent organizations to fight Tammany Hall at the coming city election.

District Attorney Charles F. Whitman who was defeated by Mitchell for the office of mayor by a narrow margin was renominated for the office of county prosecutor. The rest on the city ticket by the fusionists were Comptroller Wm. A. Prendergast, President of the board of aldermen, George McAnamy, Brooklyn, Manhattan, Marcus Marks, Brooklyn, Louis H. Colnds, Bronx, Siras C. Miller, Queensborough, Robert W. Hight, Richmond, Geo. Cromwell. As the fusionists do not legally have party these candidates cannot be officially placed in nomination by petition.

When Mitchell was recently appointed by President Wilson as collector of the port of New York the understanding was that if he decided to enter the contest for mayor he could do so without resigning until he had been elected. As the fusionists have no comment on Mr. Mitchell's election it was apparent that the officials there were pleased.

TEN VIOLENT DEATHS WITHIN FIFTY HOURS

Suicide and Murder Mania Prevalent in Milwaukee During Last Two Days—Two Killed in Accidents.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 1.—Three bodies were taken from Lake Michigan, one from the city of Milwaukee, today making a total of ten violent deaths within the fifty hours. Besides the four drownings there were four suicides and two deaths in railroad accidents.

The police picked up the body of a man today, about fifty years old and had no sooner taken him to the morgue, than a second victim, Joseph Wesley, thirty-five years old, who was missing since Monday, was found. Soon after another unidentified body was found in the lake. The body of Mrs. Joseph E. Cook, which District Attorney Yockley last night made an effort to recover, was found in the bottom of the Milwaukee river, with his clothes on. The police today decided that the unidentified man who was found in a clump of bushes at White Fish Bay, committed suicide. He was middle aged, well dressed and wore an expensive watch and chain. A revolver was found at his side. Another dead man was found in the water today. His body was propped against the bank on the lake with a coat over his head so as to muffle the revolver which was within his coat.

THREE NEGROES SEEN NEAR MURDER SPOT

Postman Testifies to Seeing Three Negroes Near Spot Where Chicago Youth Met Death.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—Information which is hoped may be of some use to the police in their search for the murderer of Bennie Holstein, the fourteen year-old boy, whose body was found in Chicago Park last Monday, was supplied by David H. Heriot, postmaster of the village. Mr. Heriot said one of his mail carriers at his office reported that he had seen three strange negroes Monday after the finding of the Holstein boy's body. HOLD KENOSHA MAN ON MURDER CHARGE

Javalios Claims He Acted in Self Defense in Stabbing Affray—
State Senator's Son Implicated.

Kenosha, Wis., Aug. 1.—Peter Javalios, who was arrested on Thursday on a charge of murdering Otto J. Langenback, waived the preliminary hearing in municipal court this morning and will be held over for trial without bonds. He declared that he had not intended to kill any one and only drew his knife in self defense after he had been attacked. Benjamin Bishop, son of State Senator Bishop, who is also held in the case, was implicated in the case. At the coroner's inquest Javalios was held responsible for the death of Langenback.

INJUNCTIONS TO PREVENT NEW TAXI-CAB REGULATION

New York, Aug. 1.—An avalanche of injunctions served on the police today virtually prevented the enforcement of the new taxi-cab ordinance which went into effect at midnight. The ordinance affects about thirteen of the private stands operated by the larger hotels and restaurants. The injunctions were obtained by the hotel and restaurant keepers who declare they are unable to give their guests proper accommodations unless they furnish private stands for the taxi-cab companies.

MANITOWOC WATER WORKS MAKES PROFIT UNDER CITY

Manitowoc, Wis., Aug. 1.—According to a report filed with the state rate commission the Manitowoc Water Works since it was taken over by the city twelve months ago has made a net profit of $37,000. Of this, however, $13,700 has been expended in developing a larger water supply.

VENEZUELA TO DOWN CASTRO REBELLION

President Gomez Given Dictatorial
Power to Crush Movement
Headed by Former President.

Cartagena, Venezuela, Aug. 1.—In consequence of an outbreak of the revolutionists in Venezuela an invasion of the country by forces under the leadership of former President Citanio Castro, the government today authorized President Juan Vicente Gomez to assume dictatorial powers until the movement is crushed.

President Gomez on Wednesday night sent the following telegram to the governors of all the Venezuelan states: "General Citanio Castro, impelled by ambition and a craving for power and a revolution in this country, has ordered his partisans to arms against the constitutional government. Already rebel forces in several localities have destroyed public property. It is necessary for you to be alert and energetic if you are to assist the government to crush the rebels. The peace of the country is endangered by the forces of an adventurer who presents no idea of decorum. I trust you will all fulfill your duty."

The governors in their replies expressed unqualified support of the government. Some of them requested that arms and ammunition be dispatched to them.

It was rumored today that Cipriano odd Venezuela to work. Castro was on board a steamship off Coro but the government had been given no definite news of his landing in Venezuelan territory. Official dispatches state that a force from Colombia under command of General Rosario Donalev had been driven back steadily. On the frontier of the state of Tachira where Colonel Romero is in command the dispatch state the rebels were forced to abandon their position. On the other side the rebels commanded by Cipriano Castro attacked the city of Manure on Tuesday and were repulsed. The rebels were then ordered to troops, led by General Zayas. No troops have yet been sent to meet the rebels as the government believes it is amply able to deal with them. The president announced today that all news of hostilities would be published, whether favorable or unfavorable to the government. He said he feels he can safely do this because public opinion is with the government.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Castro, whose whereabouts have been hitherto unknown, has landed at Coro, in the Gulf of Venezuela. This information was sent to the state department today by the American consul, Thomas Voetter at LaGuaira at the port of Caracas.

KAUKAUNA COMPANY REJECTS VALUATION

Railroad Company is Defendant in Municipal Ownership Case Taken to Supreme Court.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 1.—The state railroad commission is defendant in a case to come before the supreme court next fall wherein the Kaukauna Electric Light and Power Company seeks to have its assessment of the commission's order fixing the valuation of the plant. The city of Kaukauna, seeks to purchase the plant. The railroad commission placed a valuation of $50,000 upon it, and the company claims it is worth $120,000. James F. Trotman of Milwaukee is attorney for the company, while attorney General W. C. Owen and Deputy Attorney General Walter Drew represent the railroad commission.

HARTWIG MAY START A SUIT ON ELIASON

Rumored That State Veterinarian
May Be Defendant in $25,000
Slender Action.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 1.—It is reported at Watertown, Wisconsin, that Dr. A. H. Hartwig, a prominent veterinarian of that city, has started a suit for $25,000 damages against State Veterinarian O. H. Eliason, alleged slander. Of the total amount, $10,000 is asked for damages to business and reputation and $15,000 as punitive damages. The suit is said to have arisen from statements alleged to have been made concerning the qualifications of Dr. Hartwig on occasions when the state veterinarian refused to countersign orders for shipments of livestock for Dr. Hartwig.

Hartwig was state veterinarian for about six months when Governor McGovern first took office, and was succeeded by Dr. Eliason of Omro, Wisconsin, after Hartwig had had difficulty with the state livestock sanitary board over methods employed in the testing of cattle.

TO PROVIDE FUNDS TO MOVE THE CROPS

Secretary McAdoo Ready to Distribute Large Amount in Agricultural Regions to Supply Money Demand.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Secretary McAdoo today prepared to distribute twenty-five to fifty million dollars of the federal light money to agricultural regions of the south and west. The secretary has gathered information regarding conditions in each section where the harvest is now under way or soon to begin and expects to have money in the banks in ample time for movement of crops. The treasury officials today expressed themselves confident that the Secretary's plans would be a powerful factor in averting or relieving the usual tightness of money characteristic of crop moving season. Much interest is manifested in the secretary's declaration of willingness to receive time commercial government funds to the deposits. This procedure marks the government's first participation in the commercial market.

BOARD OF CONTROL HAS NEW PROBLEMS

Laws Just Enacted Mean Considerable
Work for Charitable and Penal Institution Commission.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 1.—Practically all of the next week, commencing with Tuesday, will be devoted by the state board of control to a consideration of the new problems imposed upon the board by the legislature. The first consideration will be given to the bill that provides for the working of convicts on public highways. Because of the lateness of the season, it may be that no thorough consideration will be made of it this year. General consideration will be given to the measure which provides for a general breaking away from the contract system and the substitution of work by the state.

It is expected that committees will be appointed to decide upon the location of the new home for the feeble minded which is to be located in the southeastern part of the state. The work on this new institution, which is to be built at a cost of $300,000, will be pressed, because over 450 applications have already been received for admission. A committee of the board will also be appointed to co-operate with the forestry board with a view of fixing the location of the tuberculosis sanatorium on the state forestry reserve. The bill in the appropriation of $10,000 is to be used toward the erection of buildings.

SENTENCED TO EIGHT YEARS AT WAUPUN

Anton Novak, Austrian From Sheboygan, Receives Long Sentence as Result of Attempting to Kill.

Manitowoc, Wis., Aug. 1.—Anton Novak, the Sheboygan Austrian, who attempted to take the life of his wife and her mother, Mrs. Herman Lau, at Eaton this county, two weeks ago, was sentenced to eight years at Waupun, Wis., for the charge of assault with a weapon with intent to kill, and was sentenced to eight years at Waupun, Novak broke down at the recital of his crime and became hysterical when sentenced.

Novak was arraigned on two counts, an attack upon his wife and mother-in-law, but upon stipulation from his attorney he was sentenced, for only one count. His first case in the local courts to receive the increased penalty of from one to fifteen or from one to thirty years for the crime of assault with intent to kill, and he has been sentenced for this offense after the action on the life of ex-President Roosevelt.

Novak charged his mother-in-law as being the cause of his domestic trouble and said she was trying to force his wife to leave him from him and that she was furthering the suit of a former sweetheart whom she had favored before the girl married the Sheboygan man.

LA FOLLETTE TAKES STAND FOR REFORM OF CURRENCY

Madison, Wis., Aug. 1.—That the national banking law should be thoroughly revised and that an emergency currency circulation should be backed by proper reserves, issued only against commercial paper that represent actual and legitimate business transactions is the contention of Senator La Follette in an editorial today under the title "Draw Wall Street's Fangs."

The whole course of banking and currency legislation has steadily favored the great banking institutions, especially those having community of interest with the industrial and transportation companies of the country, say Senator La Follette. Our national banking law is a patchwork of legislation. It should be thoroughly revised. And all authorities agree that a comprehensive plan for an emergency currency is vitally important. When it is settled that government controlled banks are to be, in fact, controlled by the government it can be easily worked out.

DENY EAU CLAIRE COMPANY AUTHORITY TO ISSUE STOCK

Madison, Wis., Aug. 1.—Acting in accordance with a recent opinion by Attorney General Owen, the state railroad commission has dismissed the application of the Citizens' Telephone company of Eau Claire for authority to issue $50,000 of stock with which to construct a local exchange. Under the conditions prevailing, the company was declared to be not engaged in a local business under the terms of the public utility laws. The company conducts a toll business with outside points.

DENIES THAT POWERS SEEK INTERFERENCE IN MEXICAN AFFAIRS

Secretary Bryan Issues Statement Declaring That No Pressure Has Been Brought to Bear on United States.

Washington, Aug. 1.—After a conference with President Wilson today Secretary Bryan declared that the United States was in no way being pressed into action or connection with Mexico in the following statement.

"Recently reports which have appeared in some of the morning papers to the effect that the European governments are bringing pressure to bear on the United States to compel immediate action in Mexico is without foundation."

Administration officials were pleased to observe reports from Mexico City that a reform element in the chamber of deputies was planning to submit peace proposals to both factions in the Mexican Senate as far as it is known the policy of the Mexican government will be to await the outcome of the negotiations of this character. The chief difficulty is negotiating peace is admitted by Mexicans of all factions. The selection of a negotiator for provisional president. The suggestion was made today as coming from prominent Mexicans that on account of the fact that men of ability who had not taken part in the recent politics were scarce, that it might be well to elect one of the diplomats now representing Mexico in posts abroad. Men of such character would be able to bring out the political affiliations and would give the situation the benefit of their experience in the field of diplomacy. Sr. Corryvarias, and Sr. Joseph Cesto Martinez were being mentioned.

PRIMARY PRINCIPLE FOR TOWN MEETINGS

Important Change in Procedure at Township Elections Brought About by New Law.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 1.—A complete reformation of the method of conducting town meetings in Wisconsin will occur next spring as a result of the passage of the Blichler bill, which executive approval was given yesterday. Since the organization of the state in 1848 town meetings in Wisconsin have been conducted on the old plan of a general election. No official ballots were used. All business was transacted by acclamation. The Blichler bill provides that the electors of any town or village shall hold caucus at least seven days prior to the day of holding the election. Candidates for office are to be nominated by the caucus or by nomination papers signed by the electors of each town or village, equal in number to ten per cent of the votes cast in such town or village at the last preceding election. From the caucus records or official nomination papers the town or village clerk shall make up a printed ballot. In reality, the election shall be conducted under the Australian system. The new law provides that both the nominations and the election shall be conducted by the electors in a printed ballot. In reality, it applies the general primary election law to town meetings. The bill embodies the most radical departure made in election laws since the primary election principle was adopted at least seven days prior to the day of holding the election. KANSAS CONGRESSMAN IN OPENING ADDRESS

GENERAL FRED S. JACKSON LECTURES THIS AFTERNOON AND EVENING AT CHAUTAUQUA.

PREDICT A BIG WEEK

Exceptional Programs Expected to Attract Large Crowds to North Washington Street Grounds.

With the weather man favoring the city with clear skies and cool breezes, the opening day of the chautauqua was the best yet. General Fred S. Jackson, known as the fighting Kansas Congressman, was the top liner for the day and gave the opening lecture this afternoon to a large audience. He will also give an address at the session tonight.

An orator of unusual ability and power and a man with a record of achievement behind him, General Jackson has something of importance to say relative to modern governmental problems. His work in Kansas has won for him a wide reputation and his fight against the liquor interests while he was attorney general was largely responsible for placing his state in the "dry" column.

Those who heard the address this afternoon on "Popular Government" will not fail to return for the evening lecture which will cover some of the speaker's political experiences in his native state.

The musical attraction for today, the Lincoln Glee club, is one of the best of the entire week. Both vocal and instrumental soloists as well as quartets the club's capacity for entertainment is unlimited. The sixteen year old pianist who plays his own compositions and the ten soloists were especially commended at the entertainment this afternoon. They will also appear on the evening program.

The grounds, located on the east side of North Washington street in the grove near the foot of Magnolia avenue, are most convenient and accessible. The tents were in shape by noon today. The large assembly tent will seat 1,500 persons and is surrounded by a canvas wall ten feet in height which is placed a distance of several rods from the tent walls themselves, affording an abundant air space. On hot days the tent walls will be lifted to insure the comfort of the patrons. The other tents will be the manager's tent, the tent for the speakers and musicians, and the rest in charge of the ladies of the local suffrage association. All of these as well as the grounds themselves will be lighted with electric lights.

Attention is called to the fact that the program opens every afternoon at two-thirty with the musical program. The afternoon lecture begins at three-thirty. In the evening the musical entertainment begins at seven-thirty and the lecture at eight-thirty. For the convenience of the Janesville public the program for the remaining five days is given below:

COMPROMISE IS REACHED IN BLIVEN WILL CASE

Agreement Decided Upon Regarding Division of Edgerton Man's Property.

The contest over the will of the late C. A. Bliven is not likely to reach the courts now as a compromise was reached on Monday by attorneys of all the parties interested and the probate court will probably permit the agreement to stand. In settlement Harriet Jenkins is to receive the Bliven diamonds, valued at about $1,000, and $1,000 in cash as well as a portion of household goods claimed by her. With $500 more to be paid her daughter, she is to relinquish all claims against the estate. This will leave the proceeds from hitching barn, real estate and personal property to descend to Mrs. C. A. Bliven after the estate has been probated, the debts paid, etc. The personal property it will be noted, is to be sold at auction soon and the other property doubtless converted by the administrator closing the estate.

OBITUARY

William Sadler.
William Sadler, whose remains were laid to rest in Oak Hill cemetery yesterday afternoon following funeral services at the home, 111 West Milwaukee street, was for many years a leading harness-maker in this city. He was born in a Crickade, Wiltshire, England, March 21, 1845, and was married to Olive Emily Clifford Lea, January 25, 1870. They emigrated to the United States immediately afterward and for forty-

PAINTERS' PISTOL AIR BRUSH

Paint Is Contained in Holder Above Barrel and Conveyed to the Surface by a Tube.

A fountain air brush, shaped like a pistol, and designed for either the fine work of an artist or for spraying (painting) large surfaces, has been placed on the market, says the Popular Mechanics. The paint is contained in the holder above the barrel, and the compressed air, conveyed by a tube, passes through the handle of the curious gun into the barrel, where it picks up the paint and sprays it onto the surface being painted.

The machine is made in various sizes, ranging from the fine needle-point apparatus for artists' work to the sizes used for painting vehicle bodies and like tasks. It is also used to some extent in painting tin and metal ware.

Keyless Lock Is Latest.

The old joke about the gentleman returning home very late from his club and vowing he couldn't open the front door because somebody had stolen the keyhole, is sadly out of date at last. A foreigner has invented a keyless lock which requires neither key nor keyhole. The lock is moved by the knobs or buttons projecting at the right hand side. It can be set in such a way that only the members of the house to which it belongs can unlock it, and it is made in no fewer than 38,005 combinations. It is unlocked by pulling one or more of the knobs upwards a certain number of times.

HOT WEATHER BOOMS THE TOBACCO CROP

Much Desired Spread Leaf is Developing.—First Fields Now Being Topped.

Another week of hot growing weather has sent the tobacco fields ahead at a tremendous pace, giving a quick growing, spready leaf as much desired, and every day adds thousands of dollars to the value of the Wisconsin crop. A few of the more forward fields have been topped and from this time on this work will become more general. What growers have most to fear now are heavy storms that might follow in the wake of the hot wave.

Inquiries for the cured tobacco are coming plentiful to the packers these days, but very few are able to show samples of last season's crop as yet. A few out of town buyers have been looking through the local markets this week and we learn that some sales have been effected, while others are under advisement, so particulars are not obtainable.

ASSISTANT IS NAMED IN THE HIGH SCHOOL

J. T. Sheafor of Grand Rapids to Succeed E. L. Roethe, Resigned.—School Opens Sept. 2.

J. T. Sheafor of Grand Rapids has been appointed Vice Principal of the Janesville High School to succeed E. L. Roethe, who resigned his position some time after the election of teachers by the Board of Education. He will teach courses in history and English. At Grand Rapids he had charge of the public speaking work and his recommendations are of the best. Mr. Roethe is out of town and his plans for the future are not known.

C. F. Hill of Whitewater, elected principal of the night and day industrial schools has rented the Finley house on South Jackson street and will move with his family to this city about August 17.

The city schools will re-open on Tuesday, September 2, the day following Labor Day and the buildings are being placed in readiness for the opening as rapidly as possible. The most extensive improvements are being made at the Jefferson and Webster schools. At the former the lighting of most of the rooms will be increased fifty per cent by the cutting of new windows. The lavatories and basement lighting at the Webster school is to be improved. The halls, assembly room, and some of the recreation rooms at the high school building are being re-decorated.

MANY WANT TO BUY CITY BRIDGE BONDS

Mayor Fathers Anticipates No Difficulty in Marketing Them.—Method of Sale Undetermined.

In spite of the fact that municipal bonds generally are a drug on the market, Mayor Fathers is confident that the city will not have the least difficulty in selling the $35,000 in bonds issued for the construction of the Milwaukee street bridge. The bonds are now being placed in the hands of a printer and within a short time will be ready for disposal. The method of selling them is as yet undetermined. The mayor's preference is for a popular local subscription sale, no subscription to be for more than $2,000 in bonds. One man has offered to purchase the entire issue outright and others have made application for various amounts. The bonds are to draw five per cent interest.

BAND CONCERT PLEASES LARGE CROWD LAST NIGHT

There was a large crowd at the court house park last evening to enjoy the regular weekly concert of the Moose band. Under the able direction of A. W. Kneft eight numbers were given including several old favorites and several of the luter song hits. These concerts are becoming more popular each week.

MEMBERS OF PINK CLUB SURPRISE CHICAGO GUEST

Members of the Pink club, together with their husbands, met at the home of Miss Cora Trundy on Wednesday evening and pleasantly surprised Mrs. M. Madsen of Chicago, who arrived a few days too late to attend the annual meeting of the club. The ladies brought well filled baskets and a bounteous lunch was served. All present enjoyed the gathering thoroughly. Mrs. M. Madsen and her daughter will return home Friday. Miss Irene Grundy will accompany them to spend a few days in Chicago.

NUMEROUS UNSIGNED COMPLAINTS COME IN Health Officer Receives Many Protests Which Evidently Have Source in Unneighborly Spite.

"Mr. Anonymous" is still very much alive according to Health Officer Dr. S. B. Brockmaster, who finds the majority of the complaints are signed by him. Very often too, it is "Mrs. Anonymous." Both of them are persistently active and more often than otherwise their motive for complaining is an unneighborly spite.

Six weeks ago the health officer received an unsigned complaint through the mail that conditions to the rear of the year of barns on Prospect and Milton avenue were particularly nauseating and unsanitary. He at once visited the premises and found about half a load of horse manure. This the occupants of the barns at once agreed to remove. Not long afterward the Mayor received a similar complaint written by the same party. The premises were visited a second time and the health officer found about a wheelbarrow load to the rear of the barns. The people using them explained that a farmer hauled away the manure but that he usually waited until there was a load for him. All three suspected the same party as being the author of the complaint. Still dissatisfied Mr. Anonymous the other day sent the following message to the chief of police:

"Whose business it is to enforce the ordinances concerning manure piles back of barns. The attention of the health department has been called to conditions back of barns on Milton and Prospect avenues but without effect. Will you do something. At least investigate."

The health officer will make a third investigation today, but is confident that the complaint will be no better founded than before.

Often complaints are made over the telephone and those presenting them refuse to disclose their names. When investigated it is frequently found that conditions on the claimant's property are as bad as on those complained of.

Worked That Time, Anyway.

In the Irish rebellion a bombshell whizzed toward an Irishman's head. Pat dodged it with a low bow, and it went by, taking off the head of a man behind him. "Faith," exclaimed Pat, "ye never knew a man to lose anything by bein' perille!"

SPORT Snap-Shots

Forty years ago the "Noisy Nine" baseball team had all other ball teams tripping over rugs and were the acknowledged stars of the day. They plan to hold their 1915 reunion at the Panama-Pacific exhibit.

tion, the remarkable thing about the team being that every member is still alive. They have issued a broad and sweeping challenge to all teams that played forty years ago, providing of course, there are no players in their line-up. Thus far the challenge has not been accepted.

When Ray Schalk, the White Sox catching phenom, first showed up at Milwaukee to report, Manager Barrett put him to chasing flies about the outfield where he made anything but a lonely impression. He was bawled out quite a bit for his puny fielding and finally Ray up and explained to a teammate that he wasn't an outfielder but a catcher. Run in there and tell 'em about it," he was advised. Which he did. And made good at it although it was not till Hughie Duffy took hold of him that he developed.

Before Cal Deaney and Jimmy Dunn had their little fracas Cal came to bat with the statement that he never hoped to try to cop the title from Johnny Kilbane, because he knew that Kilbane was in a class way ahead of him. Since the affair was entirely between Dunn and Deaney and Johnny had nothing at all to say in the matter, Deaney feels now, though, since he is no longer under any obligations to Dunn and not in the same stable with Kilbane, he would be free to go after the title if he cared to. As it was he couldn't before.

"Old Fox" Griffith admits that he is very much wrapped up in his young southpaw, Boehling, who recently put over the American league record for straight victories—eleven—and regards him as having all the bawled down in humiliation Griffith says Boehling is far and away the best southpaw in the league. Which should sound pleasant to Joe.

Amos Rusie was struck on the arm by a heavy iron bar the other day and is now in the hospital. Several years ago this would have caused considerable disfigurement among ball fans, but today it gets barely an item in the paper. Rusie, who was one of the classiest twirlers in the business when he once pitched for the Giants, is today a plumber in Seattle.

They have a ball player named Midge Scott in the American association who is said to be one of the fastest propositions in the big minor league. In the matter of size Scott is said to make Jap Barbeau, Miller Huggins and some of the other little boys of the diamond's history look monstrous alongside of him. Scott, playing with St. Paul, is the property of the Boston Americans and will probably show up in Boston next season. He is butting .280 and fifth in the list of leading base-stealers.

It would be very imprudent for anyone in the hearing of Jack Miller of the Pirates to remark unfavorably on old Honus Wagner. Miller and Wagner have been the firmest friends for years. A good way to get a bruise on the bean would be to tell Miller that you think Wagner is just about over. Miller has played alongside fans long enough to know what a wonder of strength and speed the old top is and he declares that Wagner will continue to be the star of the Pirates all next season and thereafter will continue to be the star of putting Wagner out of the game, says Miller, "would be to amputate his mitts."

SCHEDULED TO PLAY ROCKFORD HIGHLANDS

Janesville Cardinals to Clash With Another Forest City Nine at Driving Park Sunday.

Another Rockford baseball nine will appear before the local fans Sunday afternoon at the Driving Park against the Cardinals. This bunch are known as the Highlands, and are a member of the city league of that metropolis, together with Dr. Peppers and the Orioles, both of whom the Cards defeated on the local diamond.

The local nine are still disappointed over the result of the game at Yost, Wednesday, but they are now out to clean up everything which comes their way. Captain Hell has picked "Mighty" George Crandall to twirl for his mates Sunday, and there will be something doing. Crandall has pitched and has won all of his games for the Cards this season, which number four. He is a favorite among the fans who attend the games weekly, and when he steps into the box, the same is seemingly won, in the eyes of the fans.

Crandall should be in the best of condition, for he has played two games since the one last Sunday. Wednesday he played at Yost for the Cards on third base, and yesterday he pitched for Whitewater against a nine from Sullivan, Wisconsin. This team secured for their pitcher, Seibert, a Milwaukee American association man, and what the outcome was, has not been heard as yet.

Captain Hell announces that he has some of the fastest teams around the central section on his schedule, so with Crandall, Butters and Tilley on the pitching staff, there should be some real ball playing on the local diamond within the next few months. The lineup Sunday will be as follows: Bergr, 1b.; Sullivan, cf.; Stewart, 2b.; J. Ryan, 2b.; Hell, ss.; Nehr, 1b.; G. Berger, rf.; Wilson, c.; Crandall, p.

Preliminary Game.
The Janesville Stars, composed of fourth ward youngsters will line up against the Edgerton Stars, in a preliminary game to the Cardinal Rockford contest. This team is composed of youngsters, and should form a pleasant pastime for the crowd to witness before the big game is staged. So far this season, the local stars have won the majority of their games, through the pitching of LeFeir and the catching of Spohn. The lineup will be as follows:
Fourth Warders—Roherty, 1b.; Spohn, c.; Hovalander, c. f.; LaFeir, p.; Viney, c. f.; Slawson, 2b.; Marshall, 2b.; Senne, 1b.; McGinley, s. s.
Edgerton—Shack Snyder, 2b.; Stricker, rf.; Stricker 1b.; Naves, 2b.; Brismen, s. s.; Reuchs, cf.; Schumaker, 1b.; Gady, c.; Schumacher, p.

MANY BOYS ATTEND SWIMMING LESSONS

Between Fifty and Sixty Boys Receiving Swimming Lessons—Plan to Hold Water Meet.

Between fifty and sixty boys are taking advantage of the excellent opportunity of learning to swim under the direction of the directors of the playgrounds and on every Monday, Wednesday and Friday they meet at the Park hotel and go for their lessons at the Goose Island beach.

Mr. Finley, director at the Jefferson school grounds, is planning a water meet on Friday of next week which will be open to any boy in the city. The events will consist of a fifty yard dash, any stroke; hundred yard dash; fifty yards, back stroke; twenty-five yards, crawl stroke; plunging for distance, and a distance under-water swim. If it can be arranged for a float at the beach, events in fancy and trick diving will be scheduled.

Many of the boys attending the morning lessons were unable to swim but they are rapidly becoming able to master the art and those who were able to swim are being taught the fancy strokes. The youngsters thoroughly enjoy the opportunity offered and they are always on hand at the meeting place long before the scheduled time for their swimming lessons.

Although the plans have not been materialized as yet, the directors are planning to hold a camp for the boys at Lake Koshkonong during the latter part of this month. The boys are all enthusiastic over the outlook of having a change to go camping together and it is hoped that there will be nothing to prevent the plans of Mr. Finley. The girls are not going to be neglected for, during the latter part of the month they are going to hold a playground picnic at some convenient place up the river.

The last field meet between the Webster and Jefferson school constants proved to be such a success that the directors are planning to hold another on a much larger scale in the near future. There will be three separate classes brought into competition and the girls are also to meet in a contest. In the boys' meet the representatives will be divided according to their ages, the first division being from ten to twelve; second, twelve to fourteen; and third, from fourteen to sixteen. About the same number of events as in the last meet will be scheduled to decide the winner.

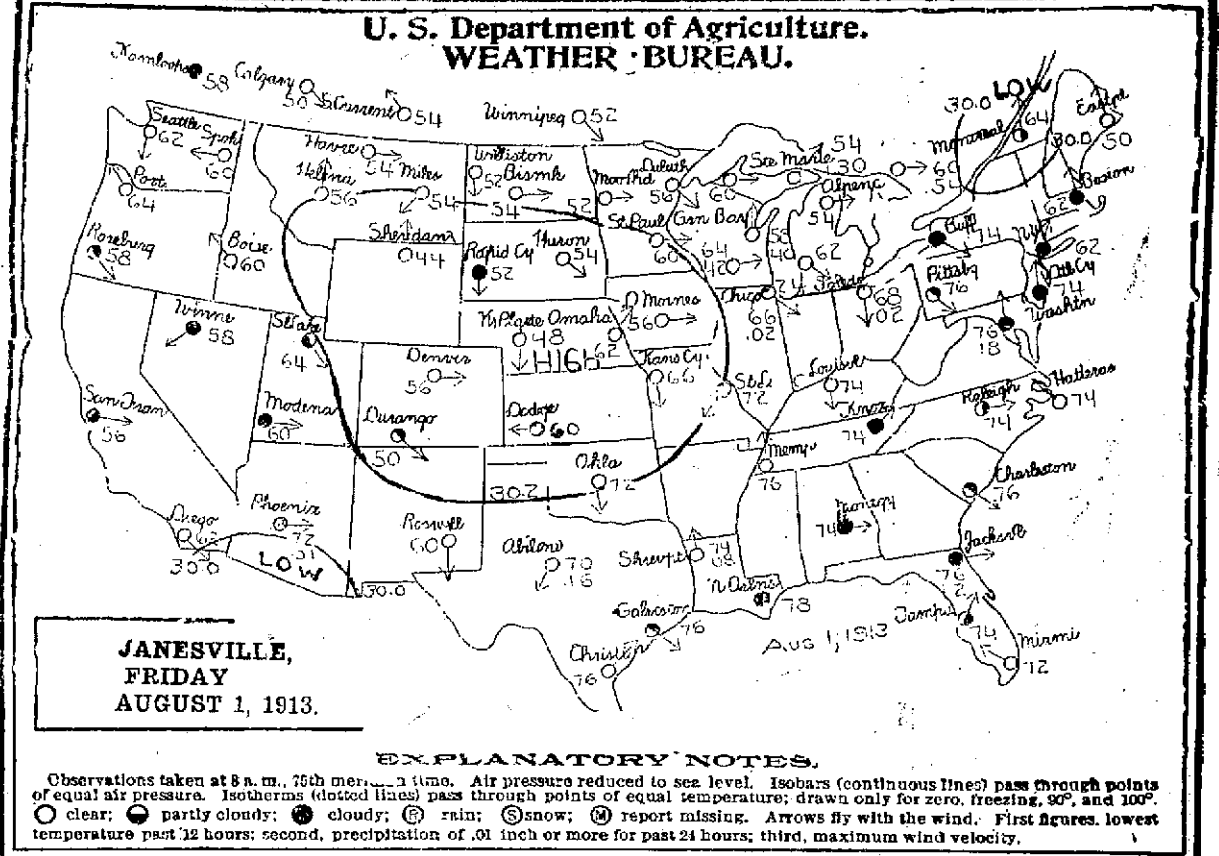

Tomorrow the boys are to meet at Riverview park where baseball games will be arranged. There will be at least three games played and if the boys show an interest in the national game the directors will form a league and weekly contests will be played. There is no lagging to the attendance and the interest in the volley and basketball games grows to be as keen as ever.

GAIETY BEAUTY IS SEEKING DIVORCE

Gabrielle Ray.

Gabrielle Ray, the famous London Gaiety beauty, who seventeen months ago jilted many admirers, scorned half a dozen nobles and one ex-king to marry young Eric Loder, grandson of Sir Edmund Loder, has taken the first step in the direction of obtaining a divorce in London. She has secured a court order for the restitution of conjugal rights, Loder having deserted her on January 13 last.

SUSPECTING THE HELP.

Suspicion, says an account of one of the season's most successful jewel robberies, "naturally rests on the servants," though the woman robbed has implicit confidence in them all and there is no cause to suspect any particular one of them.

This is by no means a solitary instance. It is quite the custom, as newspaper readers know, to suspect the domestics on general principles whenever anything is missed. It's so much more comfortable than suspecting members of the family or guests. The fact that suspected employees are completely exonerated in many cases does not seem to alter the procedure. Evidently in the Narragansett Pier affair recently suspicion "naturally" rested on the servants for no other reason than custom.

It is convenient, as well as comfortable, to suspect the help. The servants are there. The thieves, of course, are not lingering near with bulging pockets and guilty expressions. The high-priced sleuth, called in to diagnose the case, has his reputation to maintain, he fees to collect. He looks wise, examines the bureau drawer with a reading glass, crosses questions the household and does his best to browbeat and embarrass the nervous housemaid or the startled footman, because he dares. And behold, the servants are naturally under suspicion.

Suspecting the help just because they are handy and helpless may be a favorite opening with the police, but it is nothing that the rest of us should share or encourage. Passing by the obvious and hideous injustice, it is an unbecoming reflection upon the intelligence. Successful short story writers long ago abandoned the expedient of having the coachman steal the tiara with the kind assistance of his confederate, the cook. We should be no less progressive. To suspect the servants nowadays is to betray abysmal ignorance of the ways and means of gentlemen burglars, of the wondrous versatility and marvelous resource of the modern stage cracksmen and magazine rauder.

INTERESTING DATA.

According to the Christian Science Monitor, much testimony has been brought forward of late to substantiate the claim that it is the high rate of living rather than the high cost of living that has created the present world-wide problem in household and general social economies. Some things have advanced in price greatly, it is true, but it is not, apparently, so much the thing itself as the superior quality of the thing, or the larger quantity of the thing, that cuts in upon the average income. From a day-book something over forty years old, recently brought to light in a western state, a few items have been taken that coincide with similar entries found elsewhere. Allowing for some small differences in carriage for certain manufactured articles, the prices would be found to be pretty nearly the same throughout the nation then as now. It is not necessary to go through the list, but a comparison of a few of the plain and necessary things will show how little variation between, say, 1870 and 1913.

In the former year a sack of flour cost in the section under consideration $1.13; this year the price is $1.15. Then the price of an average suit of clothes was $20; it will run now from $15 to $18. A spool of thread then cost 10 cents; it now costs 5. A pound of lard is exactly the same price in 1913 that it was in 1870. Mutton was 25 cents a yard then; it is 7 cents a yard now. Canton flannel was 25 cents a yard then; it is 10 cents a yard now. Shingles were worth $3 a thousand; they bring $2.25 now. A gallon of oil was worth $1.50 then; it is worth 15 cents now. Prices will be found to vary as to some raw and finished products, but it is evident from the general run of the figures that there is plenty of latitude in the present range of prices for those who would defend them against the charge of extraordinary dearth. For example, while a pair of blankets could be purchased in 1870 for $6.50, a pair may be purchased in 1913 anywhere from $5 to $12. The same is true of corsets. The average price forty-three years ago was $1.25; corsets may now be purchased all the way from $1 to $5. Wheat is higher than it was then, so are eggs, so is butter, but soap, oysters, nails and numerous other small "necessities" are cheaper.

The most noticeable thing is that the production of many commodities of practically everything have increased immensely, although in the line of essential foodstuffs the later has outstripped the former. The average man or woman is not content with as few things as formerly. In the view of those who hold that the tendency of machinery and improved methods generally is to reduce, not to increase, the cost of production, it is not so much the increase in the price of a suit, or of a pair of shoes, or of a hat, as it is the demand for more and better quality of each, that makes the difference in the cost of living.

In all fairness to the other side of the discussion however, there is to be added. Although a great fall occurred in the price of gold immediately following the close of the civil war, and although this affected prices of all commodities sympathetically, gold was still at a premium and commodities were still abnormally high in 1870. Three years later all values were disarranged, and not until about 1880 were industrial conditions really normal.

UNFAIR DISTINCTION.

America is a great nation, the melting pot of the world, where racial extremes meet and are merged into one nationality—American. It is unjust to discriminate against those of foreign birth, be they Germans, Norwegians, Italians, Jews, Poles or whatsoever nation they hail from because some of their fellow countrymen or of their religious belief, have created a wrong impression by evil doing. It is as wrong to discriminate against the Jew because some members of their religious belief are unscrupulous as it would be to condemn a lawyer, a doctor or a manufacturer because men in their lines of occupation are unscrupulous. This great country of ours is the melting pot of the world. We are the fore-bearers of the nation that is to come after us—Americans.

WHY NOT?

It has been suggested by an automobile owner, that arrangements be made for a Janesville day for motorists, only instead of the auto-owner and their individual friends enjoying a spin through the country or to some park, the cars be turned over for the exclusive use of the many women and children of Janesville to whom an auto ride would be a delight and a luxury. The idea appeals to many of the views of the citizens, particularly auto owners, is desired. Write your views to the Gazette and discuss the matter thoroughly. The scheme has been tried elsewhere and proved successful. Why not in Janesville?

THE CHAUTAUQUA.

The chautauqua formally opens today. It is a rare opportunity for the residents of Janesville and the immediate vicinity to enjoy the privileges of the courses of entertainments, so varied they will appeal to all, at a moderate expense. All should avail themselves of the chance offered them and secure season tickets which will reduce the total cost to a minimum within the reach of all.

The legislature, which has closed its record-breaking session, appropriated in all $27,000,000 for the maintenance of the government of the state and its various state institutions for the next two years. Stop and consider the magnitude of this sum. Why it is more than Uncle Sam paid Russia for Alaska, and yet a mere talk of reform and economical administration of state affairs.

Corn and tobacco grew during the hot days and nights, and along the woods. It is safe to say that the average resident who left a nice, clean garden plot when he left home a week ago, will not recognize it when he returns to work next Monday. If he finds the vegetables he will do well.

The Grocers' and Butchers' picnic was a huge success. Next year it should be made a general business men's affair and not confined to simply two lines of industries, or better still have it held under the auspices of the Twenty-five Thousand club.

The latest jingo tale is that Europe will seek armed intervention in Mexico unless Uncle Sam acts at once, and that President Wilson is only hastening matters by his delays. Perhaps Bryan could explain the real reason in one of his lectures.

To the victors belong the spoils and the hungry democrats in Wisconsin mean to take every advantage possible by capturing every federal appointive office they can.

SPUR OF THE MOMENT

The Diary of a Bonehead.
I don't blame the man who sold me the second hand automobile, you know. Not in the least. He has got to make a living somehow and selling second hand automobiles to innocent bystanders is much safer than raising caskets, robbing orphan asylums or doing secondary work in a fashionable residential district.

It is not a second hand automobile anyhow. It is a "rebuilt" automobile. There are no second hand automobiles in the world. They are either "used" automobiles or "rebuilt" automobiles. I remember rightly, mine is a "rebuilt" automobile.

I am setting this down in my diary because today I was called upon by a gentleman who may buy it, paying me almost one-half what it cost me in the first place.

sidewalk, the car will tip the side walk over and run over the glass. I has picked up enough nails to start a hardware store. It has never had a puncture near home, however. For the luxury of a puncture or blow-out I waits until it is nineteen miles in the country.

Kindness and tender care alike fail to curb its troublous spirit. When I am alone with it, it will sometimes let me pet it on the nose, but never when we have friends along in the presence of strangers. It is a biting scratching, kicking beast of the jungle, an arch enemy of civilization.

If the gentleman who called upon me does not want to pay me anything for my car, he can have it for nothing providing he will sign a contract to never try to get it back to me and will never leave it in my back yard some dark night when I am away from home.

Sentences for These.
Man who throws empty whiskey bottle in the street.
Party who invented the straw hat with the bow behind.
Neighbor who sneezes upon talking about his onions while you wait to talk about your baby.
Man who gives his wife a wringer and washboard for a birthday present.
Huckster who comes along at 1 o'clock in the morning just after you have got the baby to sleep.

The Statesmen.
I'm glad I'm not a statesman, for I can talk all day, and no one criticizes. A single word I say, I go and tour the country, I ramble and I roam. And no newspaper tells me I'm paid to stay at home. Nobody gets excited. When I shoot off my mouth, and thinkers don't harpoon me, East, west, north and south. They do not buzz around me. And add unto my cares. By openly discussing my personal affairs. I do not have to squander five times what I am paid. To entertain diplomats. Of every name and grade. They don't present my features in cartoons that are pert. Opponents do not slam me. And harp on truths that hurt. I'm glad I'm not a statesman. He's welcome to his job. Unknown to fame, I like my game. I'd rather be a lob.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

THE FUTURE OF AMERICA.

There is no reason why we should not have on these shores the noblest civilization the world has ever known. There is no reason why we should not lead the world in political idealism and reform, as we did of old.

There is no reason why we should not take as advanced a place in art and literature, in philosophy and religion and in all the higher realms of the intellectual and spiritual as we have in the political, commercial and industrial.

There is no reason why we should not become more than ever before a beacon set upon a hill to the peoples of all lands and races.

In a measure we have been and are all this, but not in the degree that it is our opportunity and duty to be.

Everything is in our favor—our resources, our institutions, our history and our youth.

Our danger is of losing sight of our high ideals and manifest destiny in the pursuit of temporary, partial and personal things, of submerging spiritual in material things, of thinking more of luxury than of leadership.

Set apart from the old world as we are, we could become the cradle of peace, of universal education, of humanitarian enterprises, of a social organization that would do justice to the workers, eliminate waste and bring producer and consumer together; of agricultural and industrial efficiency, of practical philanthropy and helpfulness one to another, of freedom from corruption, of popular government at its cleanest and best.

These are not impossible ideals. They are both practical and necessary. With these things more nearly realized we could become a nation such as was contemplated by our founders.

Is it not time, in Lincoln's phrase, that we had a "new birth of freedom" and that America should in the highest and best sense take her rightful place as the leader of the world?

Homemade Cedar Chest.

Get a large pine packing box. Hinge on the lid and putty up the cracks if there are any, but it is better to get one without cracks. Purchase a bottle of cedar oil from the druggist and paint the inside of the box with this, being sure that the oil soaks into all crevices. Use the oil plentifully, and when thoroughly dry line the box with cambric. Cover the outside with any preferred material. The cedar oil will retain its odor for years, and is as much disliked by moths as the cedar wood itself.

What Is A Man?

By REV. J. H. RALSTON

Secretary of Correspondence Department, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—What is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him?—Psalm 84.

As man is seen in the mass, how insignificant he is! What is one among the four hundred million Chinese? What is one man of the billion and a half of the human race? From those standpoints man has no more significance than the insects that can hardly be seen with the naked eye. The most of us drop out of life and not a ripple of interest is created on the surface of society. On the other hand as we look at man as he is seen in his real being, as he is represented to us in the scriptures, how great does he appear! Only a little lower than the angels, crowned with honor and glory, and given dominion over the creatures: An old poet has very well expressed our thought in this way:

"An heir of glory! frail child of dust! Helpless, immortal insect infinite! A worm! a god! I tremble at myself, And in myself am lost."

We must keep in mind that the question is, What is man that thou art mindful of him? It is God that is in mind here, his estimate of man. In the first place man is mortal, that is, he is like all beings composed of flesh, bones and blood; he is born, he lives, he dies. Now if that were all could we say that God put his mind upon him? What has God done for man as an animal? If man would obey God's laws would he not be stronger, more comely in person, would he not be better housed, have more beautiful and pleasant surroundings?

But man is a moral being, and here we are approaching the image of God. Here we may include in the likeness of God the intellect also. As a moral being man is accountable to God. Here is also the realm of conscience, the capacity of distinguishing between right and wrong. And here we may find that the thoughtfulness of God receives emphasis. Every provision is made for man's moral perfection. If a conflict arises between the merely physical and the moral, the moral is preferred, and rightly so, because it is in this that the relationship between God and man is more clearly shown. Every man has a conscience unless indeed he may have put it to death by his own neglect or abuse of it. And God does not leave man with the capacity of distinguishing between right and wrong without a criterion of right, and we have the Bible. We have, too, the advantages that come from association with men and women of high moral character, and we have the immaculate life of Jesus Christ, which a late writer has spoken of in the term, "the moral glory of Jesus Christ."

There is no use denying that man thinks very highly of himself, and it is the spontaneous disposition of man, when asked as to his moral or spiritual state, to say that he is perfectly right. The redemptive work of Jesus Christ throws the searchlight on man, and he sees himself as God sees him, and gets the correct answer to the question, What is man that God should think upon him and visit him? In the first place he is not right. He is not just slightly wrong. Taking the teaching of the only book that has ever fairly depicted man, we must concede that the picture is gruesome and sad. At the very beginning of the race when man had not gotten far from the state of perfect innocence, it was said that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. Job said that if he attempted to justify himself his mouth would condemn him. David said that all men are gone astray, that they had altogether become filthy, that there was not one that did good, not a true one. Isaiah saw that all of man professed righteousness was as filthy rags, and that his iniquities like the wind had taken him away. Jesus Christ spoke of some men as a generation of vipers, and questioned whether out of them, being evil, any good thing could come. The picture that Paul gives in his letters to the Romans and Galatians is one that makes us shudder. Thus is man as God thinks on him, and there is nothing less than God could do for him but to redeem him out of his wretchedness and misery and death. As God thus saw him he saw in him the most glowing possibilities of future greatness and glory. The glory of the Christian religion is that it makes provision for man's regeneration, not simply his spiritual inward regeneration, but the regeneration of man in his whole being. Twice-born men can be numbered this minute by the tens of thousands, men whose present is as different from the past as day is from night. God sees in every man, however low, an angel that is more beautiful than the angel that the sculptor sees in the block of marble.

Unreasonable Men.

Golden Text—Whoever shall exalt himself shall be humbled; and whoever shall humble himself shall be exalted. Matt. xxiii. 12.

(1) Verse 23—What were the circumstances which brought Israel into Egypt?

(2) What proportion of historic events have been brought about by sin?

(3) Would you say or not, and why, that sin is a force or a law through which God brings things to pass the same as he does through other laws?

(4) How long did Israel sojourn in Egypt?

(5) Verse 24—To what extent did Israel multiply in Egypt? (See Ex. i. 9; Gen. xlviii. 14.)

(6) What is the evidence that God always makes his people stronger than their enemies?

(7) Verse 25—Would you say or not, and why, that God plans, or orders, all things which come to pass? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(8) In what sense are we to understand that God caused Pharaoh or the Egyptians to hate Israel and to deal subtly with them?

(9) Would it be wrong or right, and why, to think that Pharaoh's hatred and jealousy of Israel was a part of God's plan to get his people out of Egypt?

(10) Verse 26—There seems to be no doubt that God raised up Moses and Aaron to deliver Israel out of Egypt, but is there any evidence, and if so what, indicating that God has raised up every man for some special work?

(11) Is there any reason to think that all true Christians are doing the work which God planned them for, whether they are conscious of it or not? Give your reasons.

(12) Verse 27—What were the circumstances which made it necessary for God to send plagues, here called "signs" and "wonders," among the Egyptians?

(13) Verse 28—How many plagues did God send and which of them in numerical order was the plague of darkness? (See Ex. x. 22, 23.)

(14) How long did the darkness last and what were the attending circumstances?

(15) In what way does God send darkness to sinners in these days?

(16) Verse 29—What are the facts concerning turning their "waters into blood" and which of the plagues in order was this? (See Ex. vii. 20-21.)

(17) Verse 30—What is the correct story of the plague of frogs and which of the plagues was it? (See Ex. viii. 5, 6.)

(18) Verse 31—In what order did the plagues of flies and lice come and what were the attendant circumstances? (See Ex. viii. 16, 17, 20-24.)

(19) Verses 32-33—Which in order was the plague of hail and what did it result in? (See Ex. ix. 22-25.)

(20) Verses 34-35—Which in order was the plague of locusts and what was the effect of this plague upon Pharaoh? (See Ex. x. 13-17.)

(21) Verse 36—What were some of the awful and dramatic circumstances in connection with the death of all the firstborn in Egypt?

Think This Over:

The difference between a legitimate bargain and the imitation is as radical as light and darkness, as vice and virtue. The one is a commercial benefaction; the other is the bane of commercial and sociological conditions.

We invite criticism, we expect it, but haven't been getting it. Our disappointment is of course mingled with satisfaction because it argues that The Big Store way—everything right or no pay—is "catching on."

Lyric Theater for Conscientious Management and Dependable Entertainment.

A little boast from the Lyric, about the Pathe Weekly, and incidentally mentioning talking pictures.

Last winter we secured the Pathe Weekly, and have been showing it exclusively ever since. And last spring, getting control of all Licensed pictures, like the Edison, we received contracts for the Edison Talking Pictures, which are admitted the best of the many talking pictures on the market; but we refused to sign up. Why? Because after hearing them ourselves, we could not conscientiously offer them to our patrons. Now the Majestic Theater, Chicago, has been most prominently spoken of in connection with its talking pictures. But take your Chicago paper and look up its program, and you will find that the Majestic discarded the best Talking Pictures, the Edison and has substituted the

LIBRARY BOARD MET LATE IN AFTERNOON

Receives Annual Report of Librarian, Miss Gertrude Cobb—Former Employees Reappointed.

The August meeting of the Library Board was held at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at Library Hall. Little business was expected to come up other than the reading and acceptance of the annual report of the librarian and the election of librarians. It was anticipated that all of the present employees will be re-elected. The meeting was the first in two months. None was held during the month of July, and the board could not be assembled subsequent to that date.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

A. U. B. Church: The Reverend T. C. Breaux, of Toledo, Iowa, gave an address at the United Brethren church last evening. His topic concerning the importance of the work which is being done at Leander college.

Picnic For Children: Members of the Economics club enjoyed a basket picnic yesterday at the home of Mrs. E. W. Fisher. The affair was given for the children from the Chicago tenements who are guests of the club members for two weeks.

Need More Clothes—The city visiting nurse states that more clothing is needed for the poor of the city with whom she comes in contact when making her visits. Children's garments are most in demand. Those who have clothing to donate may bring it to the office of the visiting nurse in the city hall.

Both Pay Fine—J. Bowers and Mrs. Martha Tripple, who pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct in the municipal court yesterday morning and were sentenced to pay a fine of $30 and costs, paid their fines yesterday afternoon and were released from jail after a few hours' imprisonment.

Addressed Normal Students: Prof. F. J. Leach of the Rock county training school delivered an address at the Whitewater normal school on Thursday to the summer school students. His subject was "Personality of the Teacher." This was the last of a series of talks which the teachers have been enjoying.

Council Meeting: A meeting of the City Council was held late this afternoon at the city hall. Little business came up for consideration.

A. T. A. Meeting: The executive committee of the Anti Tuberculosis Association will hold a meeting at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock this evening. Important matters will be discussed.

HEAD OF U. S. ARMY ENGINEERS TO QUIT

Gen. William H. Bixby.

At his own request, Gen. William H. Bixby, chief of engineers of the United States army, will retire August 11 in favor of Col. William T. Rosell, the senior colonel of the engineer corps. General Bixby would not leave the active service on account of age until next December, two months after the date upon which Colonel Rosell must retire. Hence he is asking for retirement now in order that his brother officer may reach the highest place in the engineer corps.

RESTRICTIONS ON WINDOW ENVELOPES

Postmaster General Burelson Enforces Strict Rules Regarding Use of Window Envelopes.

Because the window envelopes, those having a transparent panel in front, through which the address upon the inclosure is disclosed, have seriously burdened and embarrassed the postal service, Postmaster General A. S. Burelson has issued new rules and regulations governing the use of the window envelope. C. L. Valentine, Janesville postmaster, has received a bulletin of these orders, and hereafter the window envelopes will be subject to rigid tests before they are sent through the mails. The best results will be had if the stationery used in the envelope, or at least the exposed parts where the address is written, is white. The mailing address should be clear and strongly defined, preferably written in black ink or typewritten so as to show a strong contrast between the color of the inclosure and the address.

Nothing should appear on the communication bearing the mailing address which will show through the window and tend to cause confusion or interfere in the reading of the mailing address.

Postmasters should notify users of the window envelopes for their information and future guidance of any irregularities in the use of the envelopes, so as to prevent any delay in the dispatch of the mail enclosed.

Section 492, postal laws and regulations, was amended by the following paragraphs:

(a) So-called window envelopes, having a transparent front parallel with the length of the envelope, through which the address upon the inclosure is disclosed, are allowable under the following conditions:

(1) To allow space for postmarking, the window shall not occupy any space within 1 1/2 inches from the top nor within 3/4 of an inch from the bottom within 3/4 of an inch from the bottom of the envelope, and it shall not be more than 1 1/2 inches in length nor more than 1 1/2 in depth.

(2) Windows shall not be colored and shall be treated so as to be transparent as possible.

(3) All window envelopes shall bear the return card of the sender.

(4) Changes of address should not be made on the window, but on the opaque part of the envelope.

(5) Window envelopes which do not conform to the foregoing requirements shall, when deposited in the mails, be returned to the sender, if known; otherwise they shall be sent to the Post Office Assistant, Postmaster General Division of Post Office.

(6) If the matter inclosed in the window envelopes is not folded so as to expose the complete address through the window, or the address is not printed or written legibly, the letters shall be laid aside for treatment after the other mail is disposed of. If address can not be read they should be sent to the dead letter office.

The limitations prescribed in paragraphs "a" and "b" are to become effective January 1, 1914.

TIP OF EAGLE'S WING STRETCHES CLEAR DOWN COAST TO ISTHMUS EVEN IF WE DO REFUSE TO BE IN EMPIRE

Destiny, at present in the form of the Panama canal, is drawing the eagle's wing down to the isthmus. A protectorate is proposed over Nicaragua. The United States is slowly being forced into some sort of guardianship over Mexico. International students say it really spells empire in the end, whether we will or no, and that the only real chance for an issue lies in the fight to keep democracy supreme.

HORNETS DRIVEN OUT OF FIRE ALARM BOX

Chief Klein Builds Fire Underneath Them in Order to Evict Swarm.
—Box Door Found Broken.

While making an inspection one day last week, Chief of the Fire Department H. C. Klein found a nest of hornets in possession of the fire alarm box No. 53, near the Monterey Works Mill. He built a fire of papers below the box and after it was well started quickly unlocked the door. The smoke and heat soon drove out the hornets, and the door of the box had been smashed, evidently by a boy who had thrown stones at the hornets. New parts for the mechanism of the alarm box were burned out in the recent heavy electrical storm arrived Monday and Chief Klein is putting them in place as rapidly as possible. The parts received were eight sets of non-interfering magnets, a set of non-interfering magnets, a set of metallic cut-out and lightning arresters, dozen circular glasses for mechanism boxes, a circuit wheel, power spring for gong striker, and an extra door.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

THE TARIFF.

By Howard L. Rann.

The tariff is a political meal ticket which is punched for several weeks preceding a primary election by candidates for congress who believe in protecting all of the industries in which they hold stock. It is one of those subjects which nobody knows anything about, but which everybody is perfectly willing to discuss until the cows come home.

As generally understood, the tariff consists of a pair of bars which prevent foreign goods from climbing over into this country and ruining some of our best protectionists.

These bars were put up in the early days of the republic, when we had to buy everything abroad except the home-made sock and the Boston baked beans. About the only articles manufactured here were taxes, salt pork and patriotic poetry, and everybody felt that it would be a good thing to replace the poetry with the hum of industry.

Some of the tariff men claim that this is one of the most expensive hums ever created.

Every member of congress is firmly of the opinion that the tariff is a wicked sham which should be applied to the product of his own district. The opinion is shared by a great many earnest and unselfish constituents who do not grow anything that is on the free list. These constituents are always willing to see the tariff torn up, root and branch, in all sections of the country save the township in which they reside, thereby furnishing an example of self-abnegation which is touching in the extreme.

No two people agree on the tariff and it has caused more joint debates on a cracker box than the age-long controversy as to whether Samson wore a pompadour or parted his hair in the middle. Some of the fiercest debates on the tariff are precipitated by people who wouldn't know an ad valorem duty if they should meet it head on, but this never interferes with a vigorous expression of their convictions. And, by the way, very few congressmen know enough about the tariff to cause a corrosion of the intellect.

When the heat your soul is troubling and your blood is bubbling, and you feel your innards coming, like some bacon on a stove, then, if there's a grogshop handy, you go in and swig some brandy, or some other crimson liquor, followed, doubtless, by a clove. And the bug juice makes you hotter; better far drink scalding water if you feel you are not boiling quite as fast as you should; better take a red hot pill.

FOOLISH MAN sit and fiddle than to fill your slowing stomach with a lot of fusil oil. Boozie is always vain and vicious—at the best it will dish us and it's forty times as harmful when the sizzling fumes are here; there is sorrow in the flagon; and the good old water wagon is a better institution than the cold keg of beer. If a gentleman, yearning for a healing sove and fur-nace, folks would say he was insane; and you're just about as foolish when you ask the barkeep gushful for the dope that cooks the stomach and incinerates the brain.

Summer Hints to Mothers Who 'Care'

Seasonable Advice on the Health of Children in Hot Weather.

It is well that mothers be advised not to over-feed the children during the hot months. No one requires as much food in summer as in winter. Feed the children the lighter and more easily digested foods. See that the milk is cool and kept away from flies. Be careful that the "fruit" is ripe, and if the child begins to scratch the skin, indicating too much acid in the blood, deprive it of fruit for several days.

It is quite natural that under these conditions there will be some digestive disturbance, such as constipation, indigestion or summer diarrhoea. It may be accomplished by a cold or by eruptions of the skin. The timely remedy is one which you can rely on for results, is a small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin on retiring, and by morning the bowels will move and the trouble will vanish. The exceptional tonic ingredients in this remedy will tone the stomach and enrich the blood, and the child will feel its usual self again.

Many families like that of Mr. William Weber, 29 Edw. Place, Buffalo, N. Y., who uses it for four-breath constipation and Mrs. John Wallace, Scottsville, Ky., who finds it valuable to herself as well as her children, are never without it, keeping it for just such emergencies. You also can obtain a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at fifty cents or one dollar, of any druggist. Families which once use this pleasant-tasting laxative forever after discard cathartics, purgatives, salts and pills.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it, postpaid, by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 418 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

CHAPTER VII.

The Trap.

For a moment Blake did not answer. Nor could Wanda read anything from his utterly expressionless face. Then he said:

"Do you know why I did that?"

"Probably," replied Wanda gravely, "because you wanted Mr. Standish to come here."

He eyed her searchingly. But her face gave no sign that her reply had been intended as impertinence. "Hm!" he vouchsafed. "You're a bright girl."

"Thank you, sir," she replied demurely.

Again he glanced at her moveless features in quick doubt. Then, evidently making up his mind, he went on:

"You heard the story I was telling those men over there? The story about Standish and the Woman?"

"I happened to catch part of it."

"You happened to catch every word of it," he corrected. "And now, why do you suppose I told such an all-important secret loud enough for a telephone girl to hear it?"

"That's just what I've been wondering," she said frankly. "But I can't figure it out."

"Then I'll tell you," retorted Blake, nodding approval at her unembarrassed candor. "What's the one thing we need to turn that story from a windy piece of campaign gossip into the deadliest weapon ever forged in Washington?"

"The Woman's name," replied Wanda, at once.

"Good!" applauded Blake. "You've got a real brain under that metal receiver you wear. You seem to have this situation worked out as clear as I have. Maybe, now, you can guess what that Woman's name is worth to us. How about it?"

Wanda rolled her big eyes ceilingward after the manner of a stupid child who seeks in space the answer to a teacher's question.

"Maybe—maybe a million dollars," she hazarded timidly, at length.

Blake grinned appreciation of the bit of acting, and was not in the very least deceived by it—as Wanda had perfectly well known he would not be.

"Nothing, stung about your ideas, young lady!" he commented. "Maybe I'd better put them straight. Do you want to make a hundred dollars?"

"A hundred dollars?" she echoed in a wide-eyed wonder of innocence that Saint Cecilia at her best could not possibly have equaled. "A whole hundred dollars? Why, how could a poor telephone operator like me make so much money?"

"Here's the idea," replied Blake, wearying of matching a cudgel against a hatpin, and coming straight to the pith of the matter. "I've sent for Standish to come here because I want to have a talk with him. When I'm through, I'll go away. And the chances are that he'll go straight to the telephone and call up some one. It's that 'some one's' number I want."

"Oh!" exclaimed Wanda, smiling brightly at her own comprehension. "And that's worth a hundred dollars?"

"Yes. And if you can hear what he says on the phone I'll make it two hundred."

For an instant the innocent wondering smile again illumined Wanda's upturned face. Then, like Blake, she evidently wearied of futile word-fencing, for she said, incisively:

"I see. I've got the idea. You'll spring this story of the Woman on him. You'll make him think you've almost got her in your net. You'll try to scare him into bustling to the nearest telephone and warning her. He'll know you're having him watched. So he won't dare to go to her in person with his warning or send her a letter."

He's got too much sense for that. And a telegram would be too risky. So nothing's left but the phone. He'll call her up. You'll get the number."

"Private business?" echoed the puzzled Standish, instinctively following Blake to the corner. "Private business? Between you and me?"

Blake looked at him with gentle pity, then shook his head.

"My boy," said he, "the game is up. The whole show is over. We've found out all about that pretty little affair of five years ago."

"What affair?" asked Standish, unmoved. "Please explain. My time is limited."

"If you're referring to your time in politics, it is. It ends tonight. There! There! Don't get huffy. You've got nerve all right. I grant you that."

"What affair, hey? Why, the affair with the Woman whom you registered as your wife, under the name of Fowler, at a country hotel up in New York state. That's all. Hardly worth mentioning, hey?"

As he had talked, Blake had let his gaze wander over the ceiling, the walls—anywhere except at Matthew Standish. Yet he had missed not one detail of the younger man's expression. There was nothing, however, to be read in that expression. Standish's heavy face was mask-like, blank, save for a faint tinge of polite bewilderment.

But Blake was far too wise a reader of men to go by the sign in a face. He let his mildly wandering glance shift, as if by accident, to Standish's hands. They were tight-clenched. So tight that the knuckles showed white from the convulsive pressure.

"Another campaign yarn," smiled Standish, and his voice was as inexpressive as his face. "Isn't it rather old-fashioned to spring lies of that sort? The public doesn't stand for them nowadays. Proofs are needed."

"Really?" drawled Blake. "Why, Standish, sometimes your knowledge of up-to-date conditions simply dazzles me. That's what it does. Dazzles me."

"And now—" pursued Standish, turning to go.

"And now," echoed Blake, "we've got you with the goods. Don't bluff, man. No bluff ever won a penny after the cards were laid face upward. And they're face upward now. You know what I mean. And you know we've got you dead to rights. Five years ago you spent a week with a woman at a hotel whose proprietor can and will identify you. Any expert can swear that the registered name, 'Fowler,' is in your handwriting. It was in March. Congress was still in session. But you gave out word that you'd gone to the mountains to rest. We've got the dates. We've got ever fact proved. Man, can't you see I'm trying to help you? Give me a chance to."

Standish, his face still a mask, was staring at the floor. At last he raised his eyes—the dark tired eyes in whose depths Self and Love and Happiness had so long ago burned out. And turning to Blake, he said evenly:

"So you have dug all that up, have you? I might have expected it. In fact I have expected it. But it hasn't worried me. Because you can't harm me with such a story."

"No?" asked Blake, with real interest. "Why not?"

"You know perfectly well why not," answered Standish, "the story won't amount to the paper you would print it on unless you can supply the name of the Woman. And you can't do that."

"What makes you think we can't supply the Woman's name?" demanded Blake. "What makes you think we haven't found her?"

"Because," began Standish, then he checked himself and said somewhat lamely, "because—I have good reasons for knowing you haven't."

"H'm! Still keep as close in touch with her as all that? Mark's detectives must be foolish-house graduates. Well, I'll admit we haven't found her—yet. But we will before midnight. You left some pretty easy clues and they're being followed. That's the trouble with a man who has something to hide. He'll look and double-bar nine doors to discovery; and leave the tenth wide open with a 'Welcome' sign over it. And that's just what you did. Why, son, he went on, nothing Standish's half-smile of incredulity, "If I wasn't dead sure of getting her, would I be such a fool as to tell you all this? And whatever else Jim Blake's been called, no one's yet tied 'fool' to his name. I tell you once more, we'll have her name by midnight at the very latest. Of course she doesn't know we're tracking her," he continued, chuckling as at his own shrewdness. "I've seen to it that she hasn't the slightest suspicion. And that makes our work all the easier. She doesn't know. And there's no one to warn her. It's a cinch!"

His voice trailed off into a self-satisfied laugh. Nor was the laugh wholly assumed, for he saw Standish's hands slowly clench again. And a few beads of sweat were beginning to show themselves upon the insurgent's forehead.

CHAPTER VIII.

The Trap Is Sprung.

There was a pause. Neither man seemed desirous to be first to return to the attack. The buzz of the city crept in from outside. The half-stifled rhythm of the dining-room orchestra reached them in snatches.

Standish got to his feet; slowly and more like a very old man than one in his prime. But he looked down with crass stolidity at his tormentor. And in his deep tones there was more of sorrow than of nervous dread.

"Mr. Blake," he said, "there's one point I can't quite grasp. Even your admiration for my worthy qualities and your very kind desire to save me trouble, can not wholly explain your action in telling me. Why are you giving away your hand like this?"

Blake looked pained.

"Can't a man do a decent thing for once," he grumbled, "without having his motives picked apart?"

"I'm afraid not—in your case," answered Standish.

"All right," agreed Blake in no whit chagrined. "Let's look at it from a business standpoint, then. If you'll decide suddenly to let this Mullins bill pass, and if you'll support Mark Robertson for the speakership, everything will be perfectly smooth and harmonious. And we won't have to use these painful means."

"Oh, I see. A bargain?"

"One that you won't lose by," said Blake. "A mighty good one, since it saves you your political skin, instead of forcing us to nail it to the barn."

Despite his confidence Blake was vaguely worried. He knew now, as a pianist knows his key-board, and now a subtle intuition, quite at variance with all his keen logic, warned him that Standish was not in the least frightened by the threat of political death. Knowing the insurgent's high ambitions as he did, Blake could not account for this absence of terror. So, feeling his way, he shifted to the other tack.

"The Woman, too," he added. "Think of her!"

He grinned under his sparse mustache. For again he saw Standish's hands clench. And he knew he had struck the one right note.
